

CONTENTS

01 Director's Note

04 Forgotten Photographs of the 1952 Trip to Bali

A treasure trove of negatives found in an old shoebox sheds new light on a trip that led to an exhibition now regarded as a milestone in the history of Singapore art. Gretchen Liu

12 The Construction of Bali's Mystique

In 1953, four pioneering Singapore artists held an exhibition of artworks arising from their travels to Bali the previous year. Their trip was inspired by an image of the island as an untouched Eden. Nadia Ramli and Goh Yu Mei

18 A Bridge Between East and West

Liu Kang's works show the influence of Western artists such as Cézanne, Gauguin, Van Gogh and Matisse, as well as the tradition of Chinese ink painting. Low Sze Wee

24 The Liu Kang Collection: A Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man

The Liu Kang Collection at the National Library Singapore provides an intimate look at the creative process of one of Singapore's most celebrated artists. Goh Yu Mei and Nadia Ramli

32 The Search for Home, Truly (and Other National Day Songs)

The effort to find songs that express a national identity goes back to the 1970s. Bernard T.G. Tan

38 Signs of Progress: Deaf Education in Singapore

The first school for the deaf in Singapore was established in 1954, paving the way for deaf education and the development of Singapore Sign Language. Rosxalynd Liu and Nathaniel Chew

44 The Floods of 1954

The severe floods of 1954 tested community resilience, spurred significant infrastructure improvements and left a lasting impact on Singapore's flood preparedness measures. Darren Seow

50 Mazu Worship in Singapore

Mazu devotion, which first came to Singapore in 1810, lives on in its traditions and processions. Alvin Tan

56 Uncovering the Origins of Badang the Strongman

Badang the Strongman has become part of the story of early Singapore. But there is more to the story that meets the eye. William L. Gibson

62 Barbara Kerr: Sharpshooter, School Principal, Girl Guide Extraordinaire

Barbara Kerr made contributions to the Girl Guides, sports and animal welfare. She was also a talented soprano. Nick Aplin

68 New Books on Singapore History

Bali 1952: Through the Lens of Liu Kang; My Journey of Peace to Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania and Russia and The Story of Southeast Asia are some of the new books available at the National Library.

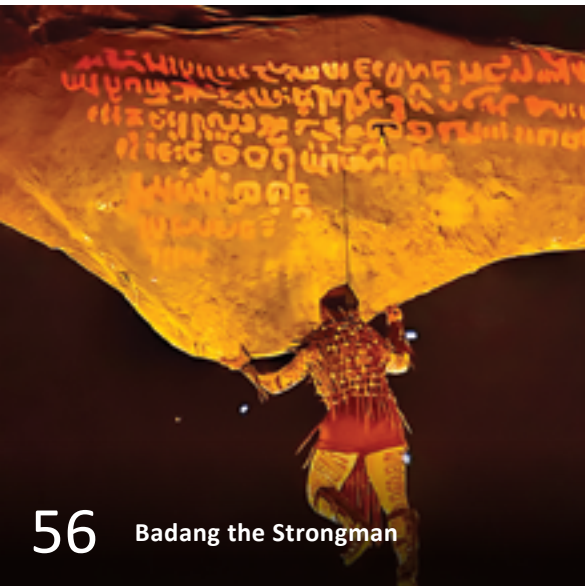

Image credits, clockwise from top left: SPH Media Limited; Tourism in the Netherlands East Indies, Travellers Official Information Bureau of the Netherlands Indies; Alvin Tan; Ministry of Information and the Arts Collection, National Archives of Singapore; Choo Yut Shing, Flickr; Ministry of Information and the Arts Collection, National Archives of Singapore.

32 Kit Chan performing "Home" at the 1998 National Day Parade

38 Teaching sign language at the Singapore Chinese School for the Deaf

56 Badang the Strongman

12 Planting the seeds of Bali's mystique

44 A flooded home in Potong Pasir

50 Mazu's birthday procession